Pupils of Armstrong Manual Training School Make Own Costumes.

Moliere's "The Imaginary Sick Man" was presented by students of the Armstrong Manual Training School on Friday night before a large audience. All of the scenery, stage properties, and costumes were made by students under direction of the faculty.

Among those who took part were Edward Saunders, Mary Dulaney, Elizabeth Brown, Lucille Simms, Thomas Bowie, Raymond Allan, George Thornton, Robert Tyler, Edna Spriggs, Isaac Cupid, Albert Deligh, Oscar Monroe, Charles Crag, Myron Ross, Mary Dulaney, Edna Thompson and Edward Ellington. The cast was coached by Miss Mary Burrill and Mrs. Julia McAdoo, members of the faculty.

HUGHES AND HERRICK BOOMED.

Several Senators Suggest Ohio Diplomat as Running Mate for Justice.

"Hughes and Herrick" was a ticket much discussed in the Senate yesterday. Some of the Senators who believe that the signs point strongly to the nomination of Justice Hughes were suggesting that former Ambassador Herrick would make a fine running mate.

Mr. Herrick is now in a warm contest for the Senatorship in Ohio and his friends believe his prospects are bright.

FIREMEN TO DON NEW GARB.

Department Provides Summer Uniforms of Natty Military Cut.

If you see a body of men in strange-looking military uniforms strutting along the streets of Washington sometime within the next two weeks don't be alarmed. No, we have no secret information of an invasion of the National Capital by a foreign foe. It was learned yesterday, however, that the members of the District fire department will don their new-out summer uniforms before the end of May. Like the new winter uniforms which they wore during the past six months, the summer outfits are strictly military in cut.

To what extent would you profit if you could find the RIGHT buyer for your property. He is probably seeking just your proposition through the Want Ads today.—Dan Layles.

EVERYONE visiting Washington wishes to take away something as a remembrance of the visit to the Nation's Capital, or as a gift for friends at home.

It is the aim of the National Remembrance Shop to supply such things in souvenirs that shall have some artistic merit.
